

1. Many who today hear me somewhere in person, or on television, or those who read something I've said, will think I went to school far beyond the eighth grade.
2. It is not my belief that you can make something out of nothing.
3. Some philosophers argue that rights exist only within a social contract, as part of an exchange of duties and entitlements.